Castlewood Civic Club ditch clean-up

Volunteer neighbors helped with ditch clean-up

In a continued effort to recover from Hurricane Harvey and recent torrential rains, the Castlewood Civic Club, with the help of Precinct 2, launched a ditch clean-up on July 14, 2018.

Residents were asked to place tree limbs that had fallen in the ditch, leaves and other small debris into a trash bag and place it by their mailbox where a truck dispatched by Precinct 2 would pick it up.

Neighbors went out to help other neighbors in this effort as pictured above. The goal is to keep the culverts free of debris and provide a free water flow to avoid flooding by doing our part. Castlewood plans to this again periodically.

AISD Trustees, Superintendent attend TASB’s Summer Leadership Institute

Members of Aldine ISD Board of Trustees, along with Superintendent Dr. LaTonya Goffney, recently attended the Texas Association of School Board’s (TASB) Summer Leadership Institute. The event was held June 14-16 in San Antonio.

The annual Summer Leadership Institute (SLI) is TASB’s flagship training conference and offered new and experienced trustees the information they need to successfully lead and advocate for their students and their communities.

AISD Trustees who attended the SLI were President Steve Mead, Vice-President Paul Shanklin, Secretary Rose Avalos, Assistant Secretary Connie Esparza and Member Dr. Kimberley Booker.

Trustees received training on new Senate Bill 1566. Senate Bill 1566 highlights the specific responsibility of school boards to provide oversight and strategic leadership regarding student academic achievement. Research on school governance has identified specific actions of school boards in high-performing districts, including setting and monitoring specific goals related to student performance. The session enabled trustees to embrace this essential board function with tools to understand available student performance data and what it means for student learning, set meaningful goals around student achievement and make monitoring progress a central part of the board’s work.

In addition to a number of in-depth and breakout sessions during the three-day event, trustees from across Texas heard from featured speakers Steve Gilliland, Linda Cliatt-Wayman and Roberto Rivera.

Gilliland is a master storyteller and comedian who is passionate about education. He is the author of four books, Detour, Enjoy the Ride, Hide Your Goat and Making a Difference. Gilliland speaks to more than 250,000 people a year. He is a member of the Speaker Hall of Fame and can be heard daily on SiriusXM Radio’s Laugh USA.

Cliatt-Wayman is a fierce advocate for children and has spent three decades fighting for children in poverty to be properly educated in Philadelphia Public Schools. Cliatt-Wayman has a BA from Kutztown University and a master’s degree from St.

Joseph’s University. She spent 20 years as a special education teacher and has since succeeded in turnaround efforts as a principal at several Philadelphia schools. She currently serves as principal and founder of Currently Trending, a nonprofit that provides leadership coaching and support to disadvantaged teenagers so they will graduate high school in four years and pursue a life of purpose.

Rivera is an artist, educator and change agent who specializes in applying best practices in engaging youth using practical and relevant methods. He is president and lead change agent for The Good Life Organization, which publishes multimedia educational tools and trains educators, youth workers and parents in connecting positive youth development to community development. For more than a decade, Rivera has employed asset-based and social emotional learning principles in community-based youth work in Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Chicago.

Joining Aldine ISD’s Trustees at the SLI were school board members from across Texas.

2017 Hurricane season FEMA After-Action Report

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 12, 2018 – The Federal Emergency Management Agency released today the 2017 Hurricane Season FEMA After-Action Report. The report examines the agency’s performance during the record breaking season. Last year, hurricanes Harvey, Irma, and Maria devastated the nation at a time when FEMA was already supporting 692 federally declared disasters. During response to the three catastrophic hurricanes, FEMA also responded to the historic wildfires in California. The report captures transformative insights from a historic hurricane season that will help FEMA, the emergency management community, and the nation chart the path into the future. The report identified 18 key findings across five focus areas and offered targeted recommendations for FEMA improvements, as well as broader lessons for partners throughout the emergency management community.

As a cornerstone of the discipline, emergency managers use lessons learned in order to improve outcomes, minimize errors, and better serve survivors. The agency has already taken immediate actions based on the findings from the After-Action Report including updated hurricane plans, annexes, and procedures for states and territories; increased planning factors for the Caribbean and disaster supplies; and updated high priority national-level contracts, including the National Evacuation Contract, Caribbean Transportation Contract, and National Ambulance Contract. FEMA has also tested its response and initial recovery capabilities in the National Level Exercise (NLE) 2018, which occurred in May and focused on areas identified from real-world continuous improvement findings in this report.

Hurricanes Harvey, Irma, and Maria caused a combined $265 billion in damage and each ranked among the top five costliest hurricanes on record. As a result, FEMA coordinated large deployments of federal personnel, both before and after the storms’ landfalls, to support response and initial recovery efforts across 270,000 square miles. FEMA facilitated logistics missions that involved more than $2 billion worth of commodities moving across several states and territories using multiple modes of transportation. FEMA Urban Search and Rescue Task Forces, composed of state and local emergency responders, saved or assisted nearly 9,500 people across the three hurricanes. In total, the hurricanes and wildfires affected more than 47 million people—almost 15 percent of the nation’s population. FEMA registered nearly 4.8 million households for assistance.

FEMA has incorporated many of the findings from this report into its 2018-2022 Strategic Plan, which will guide implementation of long-term goals to build a more prepared and resilient nation.

Governor welcomes establishment of Futures Command in Austin

AUSTIN — The U.S. Army on July 12 announced its new Futures Command would be headquartered in Austin “to better partner with academia, industry and innovators in the private sector, while providing a good and affordable quality of life for Futures Command personnel.”

After the announcement, Gov. Greg Abbott said the state of Texas “is proud to partner with the U.S. Army in establishing the Futures Command to harness the cutting-edge technologies needed to build an innovative, research-based foundation for our national defense.”

“This sweeping reorganization of the Army’s military efforts adds to the historic connection between Texas and the U.S. military, and I am proud of their presence in the Lone Star State,” Abbott added.

As stated in the Army’s official news release, the command, which began operations on July 1, will lead the Army’s future force modernization enterprise and is expected “to assess the future operational environment, emerging threats and new technologies in order to develop and deliver concepts, requirements, future force designs and modern materiel solutions to meet our soldiers’ wartime needs.”

The establishment of the command marks the most significant reorganization of the institutional Army since 1973. At full operating capacity in summer 2019, some 500 personnel will be attached to the command.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling

Paxton supports nominee

Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton on July 12 announced that he had joined the attorneys general of 25 other states in a letter urging U.S. Senate leaders to confirm President Trump’s nomination of Judge Brett Kavanaugh to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kavanaugh, 53, currently is a member of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

“Throughout his career,” wrote Paxton, “Judge Kavanaugh has demonstrated an abiding commitment to the principles and freedoms on which our country was founded, and an unshakable respect for the proper role of the courts within our constitutional structure. The Senate should confirm President Trump’s choice without delay.”

Joining Paxton in signing the letter were the attorneys general of Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Meanwhile, Texas Democratic Party Chair Gilberto Hinojosa issued a statement referring to Kavanaugh as “a judicial extremist who has no business on our highest court.”

“Let’s be clear,” wrote Hinojosa, “a vote for Kavanaugh is a vote to gut the Affordable Care Act, overturn Roe v. Wade and turn back the clock on our fundamental rights. Judge Kavanaugh has a record of siding with powerful interests over consumers and workers and would fail to be an independent check on Trump.”

Revenue exceeds estimate

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar on July 11 revised his official state revenue estimate, announcing better-than-expected revenue growth in fiscal 2018 and an improved economic outlook for fiscal 2019.

In a letter to state leaders, Hegar said Texas would have $110.17 billion in general revenue-related funds available for general-purpose spending for the 2018-19 biennium, resulting in a projected ending balance of $2.67 billion. In the fall of 2017, Hegar projected an ending balance of $94 million.

Hegar attributed much of the improved revenue estimate to an economic boost related to rising oil prices and production. Additionally, Texas added more than 350,000 new jobs in the 12 months ending in May 2018 and the state’s unemployment rate in recent months has been at or near historic lows.

“Though nearly all current economic indicators remain positive and revenue collections have exceeded our previous expectations, there are significant risks to the forecast,” Hegar said. “A trade war, a withdrawal from the North American Free Trade Agreement or a significant downturn in the price of oil would reduce our potential economic growth. The current outlook, however, is for continued growth through fiscal 2019 for both the economy and state revenue.”

Revenue is distributed

In other economic news, Comptroller Hegar announced July 11 that he would send cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts $759 million in local sales tax allocations for July.

The amount is 11.6 percent more than the amount reported in July 2017.

Allocations are based on sales made in May by businesses that report tax monthly.

TxDOT announces grants

The Texas Department of Transportation on July 3 announced the awarding of some $82 million in state and federal grants to fund public transportation providers in rural, small urban and large urban areas of Texas.

Overall, the grants are intended to help pay for maintenance of vehicles and facilities, vehicle purchases and transit facility improvements and regionally coordinated public transportation planning efforts.

A TxDOT statement added that the funding “ultimately pays for resources that give Texans access to transportation so they can get to and from school, job training, health care appointments, businesses and recreational activities.”

Safety Concerns in Summer Heat

AUSTIN – The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is reminding Texans to take extra safety precautions as temperatures and heat indices continue to reach 100 degrees and above in many parts of the state.

“We have already experienced extreme heat in most parts of the state this summer, and DPS wants to remind all Texans that the dangers from sustained high temperatures should not be taken lightly,” said DPS Director Steven McCraw. “Heat-related injuries and deaths are often preventable if we take the necessary steps to protect ourselves and others.”

Extreme temperatures place children at greater risk of injury or death if left unattended in a vehicle. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, temperatures inside a car can rise more than 20 degrees in only 10 minutes. Even with an outside temperature of 60 degrees, the temperature inside a car can reach 110 degrees.

Heatstroke is one of the leading causes of non-crash-related fatalities among children, and every year, children die from heat-related injuries after being left in a vehicle or by entering a vehicle unnoticed. Leaving windows partially rolled down does not help. A child should never be left unattended in a vehicle.

Additionally, extreme heat events or heat waves are one of the leading causes of weather-related deaths in the United States, according to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention. Periods of severe heat and high humidity tax the body’s ability to cool itself and can lead to heat exhaustion and heat stroke, which can be fatal.

DPS offers the following tips for staying safe and managing the heat:

- Drink plenty of water throughout the day even if you do not feel thirsty; you may not realize you’re dehydrated until it’s too late. Also avoid alcohol and beverages high in caffeine or sugar during periods of prolonged outdoor exposure.

- Pay attention to your body. Heat-related illnesses such as heat exhaustion and heat stroke can develop quickly. Know the warning signs and seek medical attention if necessary.

- Check on others, especially the elderly, sick, very young and those without air conditioning.

- Don’t forget pet safety. Animals are also susceptible to heat-related injury or death – don’t put your pets in these dangerous conditions.

- Monitor local weather updates and stay aware of any upcoming changes in weather.

- Limit exposure to the sun and stay indoors as much as possible. If possible, avoid strenuous outdoor activity during the hottest part of the day.

- Light-colored, loose-fitting clothing and a hat are recommended while spending time outdoors.

- Wear sunscreen. Sunburns can affect your body’s ability to cool down. Protect yourself during periods of sun exposure by putting on sunscreen SPF 15 or higher 30 minutes prior to going outside.

- Be extra careful when cooking outdoors, building campfires or driving off-road to avoid igniting dry vegetation. Also, stay aware of burn bans in your area and always abide by restrictions on outside burning.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Had it not been the Lord who was on our side when men rose up against us,
then they would have swallowed us alive,
when their anger was kindled against us;
then the waters would have engulfed us,
the stream would have swept over our soul;
then the raging waters would have swept over our soul.

THOUGHTS FROM
MARANATHA CHURCH

By Dr. Mark Trice

You're Part of His Plan

A few months ago, we had an auction to raise money for Operation BAM, which encompasses our monthly & special missions giving, emergency response team plans, and special projects. Every year, we seem to have an abundance of one or two specific items, and this was the year of the saddle. We had no less than four saddles, including one style I've never seen before, available to a room full of people who, for the most part, did not ride.

You kind of have to wonder what non-riders see when they look at a saddle. I mean, those in attendance obviously saw some incredible tooling and, for the most part, all the trappings they generally expect to come with a western saddle. Some of them likely saw their own dreams sitting there, a desire to learn to ride, to own a horse, to compete in a rodeo...

Cowboys and others who ride regularly look at a saddle and see it differently. We judge it by how it will fit our horse and ourselves, how it will perform, how much life it has left in it... We look at a saddle with its purpose in mind.

It's the same way with God. In Jeremiah 1:5, God tells the prophet, "Before I formed thee in the belly I knew thee; and before thou camest forth out of the womb I sanctified thee." He knew us before we were even in our mothers' wombs. Just as the saddle's design was firmly in the artisan's head, so was your design in God's. He planned carefully, with deliberation, before He created you. Why? Because He had a purpose for you, a plan for you to fulfill. This is what He was telling Jeremiah, and it's what He's telling us.

One commonly quoted verse is Romans 8:28. Most people say, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God," but we've got to keep reading. We've got to understand it's not just about loving God; He is talking to "them who are the called according to his purpose." Our being here on this planet is not about us, it's about Him and what He wants to accomplish now and in eternity. Others may look at you and see a parent, employee, coach, teacher... What really counts is what God sees.

God doesn't do anything mindlessly. Each and every one of us was created by the Master for a purpose, to fulfill part of His plan. YOU were created with a purpose. YOU are important to God's plan.

Maranatha! "Rejoice, the Lord is coming soon!"

term in office and will face Democrat Lupe Valdez, the former Sheriff of Dallas County, as well as Libertarian Mark Tippetts, a former member of the Lago Vista city council. "The warm reception from Senator Sylvia Garcia and our supporters this afternoon proved that they are excited to elect change this November. At the state and federal level, it is candidates like us who are ready to fight for the progress these hardworking, everyday Texans deserve," Valdez said. "Lupe understands the values of working class families," State Senator Sylvia Garcia concluded.
